

Restorative Practices Video List

High Interest Videos to Use in Circles

https://video.vice.com/en_us/video/minority-reports-black-bull-rider-cowboy-texas/5adf50e4f1cdb31e03126cc2?popular=1

Being A Black Bull Rider in a Majority White Sport: In the heyday of America's Old West, roughly a fourth of the cowboys were black. But today, the world of professional bull riding, a sport rooted in ranching culture, is predominantly white. On this episode of 'MINORITY REPORTS,' VICE sent Lee Adams to Texas to meet Neil Holmes and Ezekiel Mitchell—two black bull riders at different points in their careers—to find out what it's like as a person of color trying to make it in the predominantly white world of professional bull riding.

<https://vimeo.com/63431933>

The Paradise that Wasn't: Follow the stories of elementary and high school aged refugees resettled in Baltimore, Maryland.

<https://vimeo.com/218956840>

Void: In Spring 2017, high school students in Wide Angle Youth Media’s Mentoring Video Project explore Joelle’s story of depression and of how the signs are more apparent than you think.

<https://vimeo.com/226037172>

Violence in Baltimore: A Community in Chaos: In Spring 2017, high school students investigated the cycle of violence in Baltimore, searching for real-world strategies to prevent violence from escalating among their peers and their communities. Featuring interviews with students and experts, including Dr. Philip Leaf of the Johns Hopkins Bloomberg School of Public Health Center for the Prevention of Youth Violence, Dr. Jada McCray of the Simon Life and Wellness Center, Dr. Carol Vidal of the Johns Hopkins Department of Childhood & Behavioral Health, and Dante Barksdale and James Timpson of Safe Streets, this powerful documentary provides insight into the ways young people are challenging dominant narratives and seeking peaceful, de-escalating methods of conflict resolution.

<https://www.pbs.org/video/american-experience-great-migration-mississippi-chicago/>

The Great Migration: Hundreds of thousands of black people fled Mississippi for Chicago in the years between the world wars. Neighborhoods and schools were segregated, but the city offered a kind of freedom black Mississippians could only dream about.

<https://vimeo.com/255609217>

In the Eyes of the Youth: Realities of Race: "In the Eyes of the Youth: Realities of Race" examines race in our day to day lives by asking how we feel about our race. Baltimore Speaks Out youth producers explore community member's sentiments alongside their own, portraying people's individual relationships with resilience, resistance, and celebration.

<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=7BKWtap6UPI>

Kid DJ, DJ Switch// 60 Second Docs: 10-year-old DJ Erica Tandoh, aka DJ Switch, recently won big at Ghana’s DJ Awards: taking home the 2018 Discovery of the Year, Event DJ of the Year and Best Female DJ of the Year. Though she’s only been DJing for about a year, her musical talent and passion are inspiring others to “forget all their worries and party.

<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=J4acdCbvYCA>

Kid Fashionista, Designer Kheris Rogers //60 Second Docs: Bullied at school for her skin tone, 11-year-old Kheris Rogers is demonstrating why beauty isn’t just skin deep -- through fashion. She designed her own clothing line, Flexin’ in My Complexion, to empower others to love their differences, and with support from her family and friends, is making steps down the runway towards change.