OSI AND THE BALTIMORE COMMUNITY FELLOWSHIPS PROGRAM

The Open Society Institute-Baltimore launched the Community Fellowships program in 1998 and continues to build this program as an ongoing resource for Baltimore with the support of additional funders. OSI-Baltimore was started in 1998 by philanthropist George Soros as a means to better understand and solve the most intractable problems facing urban America. OSI-Baltimore focuses its work exclusively on the root causes of three intertwined problems—drug addiction, an over-reliance on incarceration, and the obstacles that keep youth from succeeding inside and outside of the classroom.

OSI-Baltimore also sponsors the Baltimore Community Fellows who work to create opportunity and bring justice to the city's most underserved.

We are grateful to the current supporters of the Baltimore Community Fellowships Program:

Moser Family Foundation
PNC
Cohen Opportunity Fund
Constance R. Caplan
BGE
JoAnne and Jack Fruchtman
...and numerous individual donors.

THE BALTIMORE COMMUNITY FELLOWSHIPS PROGRAM has been working to improve life in Baltimore's underserved communities since 1998. Now 190 individuals strong, they are a corps of social entrepreneurs working throughout our city—one sees their imprint everywhere.

BALTIMORE COMMUNITY FELLOWSHIPS PROGRAM

THE PROGRAM

The Open Society Institute-Baltimore launched the Community Fellowships Program in 1998. The program seeks dynamic activists and social entrepreneurs interested in implementing projects that address problems in underserved communities in Baltimore City. It is now a corps of social innovators 190 strong. The goals of these fellowships are to encourage public and community service careers, expand the number of mentors and role models available to youth in inner-city neighborhoods, and promote entrepreneurial initiatives that empower communities to increase opportunities and improve the quality of life for their residents.

Each year, up to 10 individuals are awarded a Baltimore Community Fellowship to implement innovative projects that seek to improve the circumstances and capacity of an underserved community in Baltimore City. Applicants may apply for a fellowship to work under the auspices of a nonprofit organization in Baltimore City, or to work independently.

Applicants may come from all walks of life, including—but not limited to—business management, the arts, law, public health, education, architecture, and engineering. Individuals from underserved communities and people of color are strongly encouraged to apply.

FELLOWSHIP

Fellowship awards are in the amount of $60,000 for a term of 18 months.

The Fellowship grant is intended to provide a living stipend to support an individual's full-time, independent work on a project. It is awarded directly to an individual—or an organization on an individual's behalf—to guarantee flexibility in carrying out the objectives of the project.

Other entities may augment the stipend. The Baltimore Community Fellowships Program provides limited relief for graduate school debt payments on a case-by-case basis. The program also reimburses the individual for the cost of medical insurance, if necessary.

ELIGIBILITY

The Fellowships Program solicits proposals that address a wide range of issues, needs, and solutions. Applicants need not be from Baltimore City, but should be knowledgeable about social and economic justice issues affecting Baltimore's communities.

Individuals currently receiving wages or a salary to undertake the proposed project are not eligible to apply. Fellows may not use stipends to supplant funding for activities or projects that are fully funded and are being implemented with the full support of a non-profit organization. The program does not award fellowships to conduct research or to implement lobbying initiatives. Fellows must be willing to participate fully in meetings scheduled for the Community Fellows.

LETTER OF INQUIRY

Interested applicants will submit letters of inquiry according to the specifications on page 3, and OSI-Baltimore will select a handful of applicants to submit full proposals. Program staff and independent readers, as well as a selection committee comprised of local community leaders, review the proposals. The selection committee interviews approximately 20 semi-finalists and recommends up to 10 fellows.

To be considered for a fellowship, the 20 semi-finalists must attend the interview session with selection committee members. Selection is based on:

- The applicant's competence in and commitment to his or her chosen field
- The need for the proposed project or technical assistance
- The responsiveness of the project to the community involved
- The capacity of the individual and host organization to implement the project
- A sound implementation, governance, and sustainability plan

All information submitted to OSI-Baltimore is confidential.

TIME FRAME

All letters of inquiry are due by Monday, March 5, 2018. Applicants will be notified of their application status in May 2017. OSI will invite applicants chosen for further consideration to develop a more detailed proposal. It will outline details/steps in the process for the selected applicants at that time. Fellowships begin in November 2017.

APPLICATION PROCESS

The Community Fellowships application is now online: osibaltimore.org/fellowshipapplication. If you prefer, you can submit a paper application using the process described here instead.

I. COVERSHEET

This should be the first page of the letter of inquiry (see page 4).

II. LETTER OF INQUIRY

This should be no more than three pages, double-spaced in 12-point type, on white paper. The letter should begin with a one-sentence description of the proposed fellowship project that states the goals and the means the applicant will use to attain the goals. The letter of inquiry should describe:

1. Where the project will take place;
2. The social or economic need for and the anticipated impact of the proposed project;
3. The applicant's past experience with the targeted Baltimore community;
4. Why the proposed work is important to the applicant and to the community;
5. How the applicant will accomplish the goals of the project; and
6. How the project will stimulate social change.

III. APPLICANT'S RESUME

Please submit your resume or CV.

IMPORTANT NOTES

Please submit two copies of the application by 5:00 PM ON MONDAY, MARCH 5, 2018.

Materials should be mailed or delivered to:

PAMELA KING

Director, Community Fellowships and Initiatives

Open Society Institute-Baltimore
201 North Charles Street, Suite 1300
Baltimore, MD 21201
(410) 234-1091

- All materials must be received or postmarked by 5:00 PM on Monday, March 5, 2018.
- OSI-Baltimore will acknowledge all letters of inquiry with a receipt.
- Applicants should not send a full proposal or other materials unless requested to do so.
- OSI-Baltimore will discard all unsolicited materials.
- Applicants should not email or fax the letter of inquiry.

The applicant's name should be printed or typed in the upper right-hand corner of each page of the submission. Please do not submit an application with covers or binders of any sort. If you have questions regarding the letter of inquiry submission process for the OSI-Baltimore Community Fellowships Program, please call Pamela King at (410) 234-1091. III. AFFIRMATION OF ELIGIBILITY

I understand that the Baltimore Community Fellowships Program is a full-time commitment, that I may not be enrolled as a full-time student in an academic institution during the fellowship period, and that I cannot hold a full-time position in addition to the fellowship obligation. I further declare that I am not requesting the Baltimore Community Fellowship to conduct work for which I am presently being compensated or that is already being implemented by the host organization. I will participate fully in the meetings scheduled by OSI for the Community Fellows.

2017 FELLOWSHIP COHORT

Jackie Bello

Jackie Bello will expand Dent Education by working in partnership with several schools (Green Street Academy, Maree G. Farring Elementary School, and Benjamin Franklin High School) to develop Teaching Students to Make a Dent. The organization will teach design thinking, community engagement and entrepreneurship to instill students with the skills and mindset essential to becoming innovators of change.

Mathew Burke

In partnership with Growing Soul, Inc., Mathew Burke will establish Baltimore Free Farm Food Rescue, a network of food give-away sites at local businesses, churches and community centers for the purpose of providing nutritious food, reducing waste and educating the public on issues related to food justice.

2017 FELLOWSHIP COHORT

Ausar Daniels

Ausar Daniels will work in partnership with Tubman House to develop the Greater Mondawmin Empowerment Project (GMEP) which will provide education and vocational training for the Sandtown-Winchester community in agriculture, culinary arts, and wellness.

Ryan Flanigan

Ryan Flanigan will work in collaboration with the Baltimore Housing Roundtable and the Central Baltimore Partnership to establish the Remington Community Land Trust to preserve and expand affordable housing options as a means to maintain Remington as a multi-class community.

Eric Jackson

Eric Jackson will create Building Black Land and Food Sovereignty Practice as a part of Black Yield Institute. His project will organize residents to create community oriented solutions to the food equity issue in the Cherry Hill and Poppleton communities.

Munib Lohrasbi

Munib Lohrasbi will work in partnership with Disability Rights Maryland to establish the State Correctional Facilities Oversight Committee Project. The organization will work to increase transparency and enforce the Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA) in the state's correctional facilities.

Alex Long

Alex Long will establish the McElderry Youth Redemption Boxing Program as a vehicle to use physical rigor and a disciplined structure to engage vulnerable youth, ages ten to fourteen, in alternatives to negative activities.

Kim Loper

In partnership with Jubilee Arts, Kim Loper, will build Youth in Business Design Collective, an initiative that cultivates the entrepreneurial leadership skills of high school aged youth by providing hands-on experience operating an art and design-based business.

Shantell Roberts

Shantell Roberts will expand Touching Young Lives, Inc. to focus on the health and well-being of infants and children by using the "Portable Alternative Crib" as a new and innovative safe sleep alternative for infants.

Amy Tenney

Amy Tenney will work in collaboration with the Goodnow Community Center and other organizations to establish the Healing and Community Integration through Music: Refugees and Other Vulnerable Immigrants Program. The program will provide music therapy services and teach methods for healing and self-care to participants.
